Vol. 3—No. 70 GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, MARCH 22, 1923 THREE CENTS

Our City comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

New Candidates Appear in the City Council Race

TWO candidates were added to the list already printed of those aspiring for the office of Councilmen of Glendale. This makes a total of seven.

These two men are Asa Hall and W. A. Horn.

* * *

MR. HALL was chief bookkeeper and accountant for the city of Los Angeles from 1907 to 1921, retiring after leaving the employ of Los Angeles. He is almost a native son, having lived in California for the past thirty-three years, about three years of this time in Glendale. His experience in city government would be or great value to Glendale, if elected. He has had a hand in preparing the Los Angeles tax levies as well as handling all the Los Angeles bond business. He also prepared the auditor's annual report which the government held to be the model report of all cities of the United States.

On account of being retired he could give more time to the city management than we could afford to buy.

* * *

MR. W. A. HORN is also an old time resident of California, having been 17 years in the state. His business experience is such as to qualify him as a successful councilman. He is at present a realtor.

Among the candidates now before the citizens for councilman we ought to be able to elect two that would strengthen the administration forces considerably.

Most of our citizens recognize the need of a level headed council for the next few years on account of the many important problems now before us for settlement. We would suggest that all voters study over the qualifications of all the candidates and get behind the two that can give us efficient service.

* * *

IT is to be hoped that Glendale citizens will take more interest in the coming campaign than has been the case in recent elections. In conversation with the men soliciting signers to the candidates' petitions we learn a great many voters in Glendale have failed to register. In fact one solicitor reports that in calling on 21 voters last evening only one was a qualified voter. It is true that a large percentage of these had lost their vote on account of having moved. It takes such a short time to re-register that any one can well spare the needed time. The list of registrars has been printed in our columns frequently and in addition one of our own force has been deputized and can register citizens any time during the day. If you cannot come to our office he will call at your home. If you are not registered do so at once. It is your duty as a citizen.

BUSINESS PROGRESS IS SWIFT

Department of Commerce Reports Records Show Sales Maintained

STEEL SHOWS WAY

Cotton Consumption Depletes Raw Material Stocks in Market

WASHINGTON, March 22.—All of the production statements and business records available to the commerce department indicated that business in the United States during February was proceeding at the rapid rate noted early in the year, according to a summary of these issued today. Building, manufacturing and railroad freight movement, the department's statement said, all continued to reflect the stimulation.

"Retail sales kept up to January's mark," the review declared, "in spite of the shorter month, while the transportation system showed signs of overcrowding in the large car loadings and increased shortage of freight cars. The wholesale price index advanced one point and again the decline in coal prices prevented a further rise. Food prices, both at wholesale and retail, declined. Increased prosperity is confirmed by the marked decline in business failures and the continued rise in stock prices.'

In the textile field, the increasing rate of cotton consumption reduced total stocks of raw cotton at the end of February to the lowest point reported at the season of the year since 1914. Wool receipts, with one exception, were higher in February than any month since April, 1921, while silk consumption also with one exception, was the largest since 1919.

Pig iron in February was slightly higher per day than in January. Unfilled orders of the U. S. Steel corporation, 7,283,989 tons, the highest since January, 1921. Unfilled orders for locomotives made a new high record in February, fabricated structural steel sales were the highest since last May but orders for steel castings declined.

Shipments of building materials, such as lumber, flooring and cement, showed large increases over January and over February, 1922.

A net car shortage of 65,000 freight cars at the end of February was the first increase over the recent low point of 45,000 cars short at the end of January.

CONGRESS ASKED TO PROBE SUGAR ADVANCE

Basil Manly Writes the President People Have Been Robbed of Millions

[By Associated Press]

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Demands for an investigation of the fluctuations in the sugar market made during the closing days of congress by western senators were revived today by publication of a letter written to President Harding by Basil Manly, director of the People's Legislative Service, charging that the American people were in a fair way of being robbed of $500,000,000 "for the benefit of sugar gamblers and profiteers."

"It is suggested," said Mr. Manly, whose organization was formed by members of the progressive bloc in congress, "that as one of the first witnesses, the federal grand jury should hear Claus Spreckels, who has publicly stated that the sugar gamblers "aided by the department of commerce" have been able to rob the American people of thousands of dollars." Mr. Manly declared the rise in prices had the sole basis, "so far as the public is informed," in a statement issued by the department of commerce on February 9, which was interpreted by "all the newspapers" as predicting a great shortage of sugar during the coming year, and that although Secretary Hoover had declared the statement was misinterpreted, the opening sentence was so worded as to "send prices leaping upward."

"Even after this statement had aroused an orgy of speculative activity on the sugar exchange and its evil effects were known," the statement continued, "the department of commerce further 'bulled' the market by issuing a statement particularly directing attention to the increased consumption of sugar in the United States during the past year."

Demands now being made for an investigation of sugar price fluctuations "are about a month behind" Secretary Hoover said today, adding that such an inquiry had been instituted by the government on March 6.

The secretary said he was convinced there was no economic justification for high prices of sugar and that the department of commerce and other governmental departments were investigating into conditions in Cuba, under authority of a law passed by congress authorizing inquiry into combinations of foreign producers of import commodities.

THIEVES VISIT RIGDON HOME

Thieves entered the home of Nathan Rigdon, 224 West Doran street, between the hours of 2 and 3 o'clock this morning, but were frightened away before they secured anything of value. Entrance was gained through a rear window left unlocked.

Shortly after 2 o'clock Mrs. Rigdon, who was on the second floor, heard the thieves at work on the floor below. She awakened Mr. Rigdon, who switcheu on the electricity. When he descended the stairs the thieves had made their getaway. Papers and other things were strewn around the room.

LONG BEACH IS SHAKEN BY BIG BOOTLEG RAID

Officials of Curtis Corporation Are Arrested in Big Raid

LONG BEACH, March 22.—Long Beach business, commercial, social and police circles were rocked to the foundation last night and today by the arrest of Alexander Stewart, president of the Curtis corporation, together with officials of that organization and a group of men believed by police officials to be a bootleg ring, all taken in a raid on a booze landing party at the Curtis corporation docks late last night.

Those arrested were: Alexander Stewart, president of the Curtis Corporation; V. C. Lord, salesmanager of the corporation; Albert C. Leahy, general manager of the Curtis Corporation; George O. Hogan, Hollywood, believed by police to be the leader of a booze ring; Joe Morris, Hollywood; Lewis Edwards, Hollywood; John Johnson, Hollywood.

The raid resulted in the capture of imported liquors valued at nearly $20,000, three motor trucks, three motor cars and an expensive sedan, the property of the Curtis Corporation here. A power boat measuring 40 feet was seized.

It is believed by officers that one Japanese fisherman, a member of the booze landing party, is dead as a result of buckshot wounds.

The boat which had completed the landing of the liquor at the time the raiding officers appeared on the scene, was drawing away from the dock when the party arrived.

Shots were fired across her bow by Detective Sergeant Murphy. The boat failed to stop. Other shots were directed at the occupants. One Japanase was seen to rise and fall into the water. The body was not found.

In the meantime the police were rounding up the men who had a part, they believe, in the affair.

Cars parked with engines running were found to contain many cases of liquor and were ready at the time the officers appeared to be on their way.

Two Japanese members of the boat crew escaped by leaping from the captured car.

The raid took place at 2:30 in the morning and police acting upon information furnished them by watchmen in that district made an investigation.

Calls for reinforcement brought bour carloads of officers. The party was raided just as they were making ready to leave the scene of the landing.

It is claimed that several cases of liquor were found in the sedan, owned by Alexander Stewart. All of the cars which included a roadster, the property of Albert C. Leahy; a large touring car owned by George Hogan and the sedan are being held by the police.

The trucks, one registered to C. V. Dudrey of Los Angeles, another owned by M. J. Daley of Hollywood and a small truck registered to Kodota, a Japanese, were confiscated. The power boat registered A-1281, is being held.

Included in the shipment of liquor captured were 166 cases of imported liquors. The shipment had been billed from Scotland to Enseneda via Vancouver. The police are of the opinion that a large vessel lying outside the three-mile limit loaded the smaller boat and passed on, leaving the small boat to make the landing.

The facts brought to light after questioning the men involved, paralleled those of the raid accomplished by the Long Beach police several months ago when booze valued at $40,000 was seized as leaders of a bootleg ring were burying their cache in the sands near the harbor district.

The police believe that this party is in some manner conected with the gang taken prisoners at that time.

THE EXCHANGE CLUB HEARS FROM OIL EXPERT

No business was transacted at the Exchange Club which met for luncheon Wednesday at the Harriet Mae Tea Room, an entertaining program being substituted by Dr. Warren Z. Newton, chairman of entertainment. It included vocal numbers by the White Sisters, and piano numbers by Mr. Rahn, all of Los Angeles. Mr. Shaw, on behalf of Mr. Gulick, presented the bus proposition as applied to Glendale; and Mr. McDonald gave an interesting talk on the geology of oil.

He mentioned the fact that he had been employed on the United States Geological Survey, and that he had years ago predicted that Signal Hill was an oil dome though many people had disbelieved him at the time.

The meeting drew a large attendance and announcement was made that the club's ladies' night would be held April 5 at Sunset Canyon Country Club and would be a dinner dance.

Athlete Chews Nails and Likes Steel Eatables

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, Mar. 22.—That a Jewish athlete named Breitbart, 34, six feet 2 inches in height, and weighing 210 pounds, can bite through steel, is vouched for by a medical correspondent of the Lancet.

Breitbart's performances astounded a committee of engineers, smiths and athletic heads who saw him sever with his teeth several iron and steel chains, one-fifth of an inch thick, bend into a circle iron rods half an inch square, using his mouth as a fulcrum to bend over his head a rail four inches thick by two and a half inches.

The correspondent says:

"The committee is satisfied he accomplished these tasks by means of extraordinary muscular power coupled with excellent scientific training and muscular energy."

$250 Prizes for Bright Young Folks Makes Hot Contest

The race for the $250 in gold to be given away by the Glendale Daily Press very soon, is attracting a great deal of attention.

The past week a dark horse entered the race in the person of Raymond Hall, 348 Burchett street, and he sent his vote to the phenomenal figure of 138,000. When Raymond talked with the Contest Editor and found out how easy it will be to earn a prize of from $20 to $100 in gold for so little effort he said: "I am going after the first prize, and the fellow what beats me will have to hustle;" and his vote published at the top of the column on the contest page in this issue, proves his statement.

Dana Van Loon is another hustler. He is coming along very strong, and his keen eyes indicate that he has a surprise up his sleeve for the boys who are in the big game to win.

Mary E. Kirby, a live and energetic little girl, is also a hard worker. She has a big vote to her credit today. She will be close to the top when the final vote is counted if she keeps up her present pace.

Elsie Beamer and Ruth Stein are new entrants the past week. Fred Fallis is also on the job as will be seen by his vote. There is still room for more contestants. Read every word of the contest page in today's issue. It will pay you.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

Automobiles belonging to H. L. Mitchell of 1241 South Boynton street, and Kenneth Peterson of La Crescenta, collided at the corner of Wilson and Central at 8 o'clock this morning. No one was injured and the damage done to the automobiles was nominal.

Two girls, whose names could not be learned, were struck at the corner of Wilson and Howard streets yesterday by a machine driven by William D. King of Glendale. One girl was knocked down, but was able to walk to her home. King claims that the girls ran out into the street directly in front of his machine.

De Molays will hold full sway at the Masonic Temple this evening. A public installation of officers, followed by a dance, is the program to be presented by the members of Glendale Chapter.

The dance, which is the third to be given by the local chapter, will be a benefit for the robe fund. Music will be provided by an orchestra from the University of California, Southern Branch.

Thomson, retiring Master Councilor, who is also the first Master Councilor of Glendale Chapter, will be the installing officer. He will be assisted by Mr. Ira L. Vande, chairman of the advisory council; Mr. Percy Priault and Mr. Joseph S. Thompson, members of the advisory council. The installation will begin promptly at 7:30, and the dance will follow at 8:45.

The order of De Molay is composed of sons of Masons and their friends, and Glendale Chapter is sponsored by Unity Chapter 116, Royal Arch Masons. It was organized last September, and has at the present time a roll of nearly 80 members.

The officers to be installed this evening will serve the Chapter for the next three months. They are as follows:

GLENDALE DAILY PRESS STAFF TO JUDGE FILM

Manager Howe of the Glendale, Invites Staff to View "Front Page Story" Tonight

When the press agent of Jess Robbins, producer of "A Front Page Story," described how accurately the film followed newspaper life, to Manager Howe of the Glendale theatre, Mr. Howe decided to pass the film on to the judgment of the staff of the Glendale Daily Press for verification. Not only to the staff, but the mechanical force, their friends, wives, sweethearts—in one general invitation to be present at the opening night and pass on the accuracy of the production. This is the story the press agent told:

"When Jess Robbins, producer of 'A Front Page Story,' announced that he intended to make a newspaper story he received several communications requesting him to keep it true to life. A prominent editor and friend of Mr. Robbins said in substance:

"'Jess, I know that you know newspapers, and I know that Arthur Goodrich is familiar with the workings of a newspaper office, Edward Horton, your leading man, has been a reporter and all that, but don't let any of the gross errors slide by that have stamped newspaper pictures and plays as farces. Don't make your newspaper reporters carry notebooks, don't make them all cubs, don't dress them like clothing store dummies and don't have them always dropping in on the nick of time. Reporters don't do those things.'

"'Will you take the responsibility of passing judgment on all the newspaper stuff?' asked Robbins. 'You were brought up in the business and know it from A. to Z. No man can doubt your ability to pass judgment on the correctness of a newspaper atmosphere.'

"'Yes; I'll do it,' replied the editor. 'I want to see one picture that is a newspaper picture, a film that will be a credit to the industry, and if you will do just what I say in regard to the newspaper atmosphere it's a go.'

"Robbins agreed, and the newspaper men who have seen 'A Front Page Story' are unanimous in the opinion that it truthfully depicts the life of a journalist."

Barbara LaMarr, the dark eyed "Hester" of the Gasnier production of "The Hero," now showing at the T., D. & L. Theatre, is declared by Rex Ingram to be "the most promising screen player he ever has seen." The director used her in a prominent role in "The Prisoner of Zenda," then featured her in his latest picture, "Trifling Women."

The gifted Barbara was born in Richmond, Virginia, of an old American family which traces its lineage back to France and the days of Napoleon. She refused to ornament the family circle, however, after reaching the age of seventeen years. At that time she caused a lifting of eyebrows in the exclusive social circle of Virginia by doing a barefoot dance that was declared to be "extremely artistic"—and slightly informal.

After this semi-professional appearance Miss LaMarr decided to seek her fortune elsewhere, accepting an offer to appear in a featured role in a Broadway musical revue. While in the midst of this contract she was seized by a vaudeville organization and started across the continent.

It was during this appearance that Douglas Fairbanks saw her and decided that she would grace his production of "The Three Musketeers"—which critics agree she did to the satisfaction of theatregoers. Then came the engagement with Ingram.

TUESDAY DIRECTORS PLAN PROGRAMS

A meeting of the board of directors of the Tuesday Afternoon club was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. A. A. Barton, 318 Mountain street, when arrangements were made with the program committee for the club bulletins covering the next three months. The discussion of house committees, rentals and other business in connection with the new club home took up the greater part of the meeting.

The convention will be held at San Luis Obispo on April 2, 3 and 4. Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president, will attend. Announcement has not been made as yet as to who the other delegates from the local club will be.

Congressional Party Visits Santa Ana
[By Associated Press]

SANTA ANA, March 22.—Members of the congressional party led by Representative Phil D. Swing of California, visited North Harbor as guests of Santa Ana and Orange county chamber of commerce late yesterday, returning to St. Ann's Inn for an informal dinner in the evening.

Plans for the future of a harbor at Newport Beach for the territory included in Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, were explained to the members of the party by the county harbor commission. Work already done toward the building of a harbor in landlocked Newport Bay was also founded and the congressmen were shown on trips about the harbor, how much had been accomplished by the expenditure of $1,000,000 on the project by Orange county.

Following the dinner in the evening the party spent the night at St. Ann's and this morning were taken in automobiles by Anaheim and Fullerton residents for a trip over Orange county to meet the train for Los Angeles and Fullerton at 10:30 o'clock.

Members of the party declared themselves as well pleased with the work of the county in harbor development and expressed surprise at the statement of Lew H. Wallace of the county harbor commission that Orange county would meet dollar for dollar any appropriation the federal government might make at this time.

Seattle Club Purchase To Be Investigated
[By Associated Press]

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—Ed R. Maier, president of the Vernon Club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, announced today he had sent a telegram to William H. McCarthy, president of the league, asking for a complete investigation of reports he said were current that William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Los Angeles club, was also financially interested in the Seattle club. Maier asked that Wrigley be given complete vindication if the reports proved untrue.

The telegram follows:

"On account of the rumors that have spread broadcast that William Wrigley, Jr., has money invested in the Seattle baseball club and the resultant bad effect on the game in general, I think it is your duty to make a thorough investigation. The public should know the truth about this deal and if Mr. Wrigley has taken no part in the deal he should have an absolute vindication.

(Signed) "ED R. MAIER."

PASADENA, March 22.—During the year 1924 this city will be resplendent in a dress of blue and gold, the state's colors which have been adopted for Pasadena's golden jubilee celebration. Fifty events will be featured every week, marking a half century of city development. The Pasadena Horticultural Society has started a campaign to turn every flower garden in Pasadena into a riot of blue and gold flowers, and arrangements are being made to map out the months when blue and gold flowers will bloom and to plant and raise these colors of buds almost exclusively. As the members of the horticultural society include most of the gardeners of the city it is believed that the project will be carried out in a big way.

The petition had only a narrow margin over the required 25 per cent quota of names and this was completely wiped out by duplication, defective and invalid signatures.

HOW TO WALK WITH GOD, TOLD BY DR. HADDEN

The sermon subject of Dr. Robert A. Hadden at the Glendale Presbyterian Church was "How to Walk with God." He based his remarks on the Old Testament character, Enoch. He said in part:

"In a day when right living and thinking were anything but popular Enoch faced the struggle almost alone. In all scripture eight short verses contain the record of this man's lonely struggle for God.

"Walking with God is not only an early experience but a deeply blessed spiritual experience as well. By nature we are far from God . . . 'in Christ Jesus ye who were sometimes far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ.'

"Enoch had an abiding consciousness of the nearness of God in his life. We too may have the fullest consciousness of God's presence with us as we walk the streets, or mingle with our fellows. At any time or place we may commune with Him.

"We may come into very definite consciousness of this personal relationship with God. 'The spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit that we are the children of God.'

"God has taken us into a wonderful relationship.

"We may have a constant consciousness of this fellowship and communion with the Master. At any time we may dismiss those about us so as to be able to commune quietly with the heavenly Father. Like Enoch we may walk with Him and talk with Him in blessed companionship.

"We need this life and cannot live the life of a Christian until we are born into the Christian life."

At the services this afternoon Dr. Hadden spoke on "The Problem of the Incarnation." He answered the following questions: Did deity become related to humanity? Was the Virgin birth the divine design and accomplishment? Does the incarnation possess distinctive value to man? At the afternoon service on Friday Dr. Hadden will speak on "The Problem of the Intermediate State."

MRS. J. B. M'ENANY WRITES FROM TOKYO, JAPAN

A. J. Lucas, the realtor of 309 South Brand, recently received a postcard from Mrs. J. B. McEnany, who, with her brother, Dr. Rudy, is circling the globe. It represented a street scene in Yokohama but the writing on the card was dated at Tokyo. She said that this great heathen city of 3,000,000 people was advanced enough to have sewers, and that she couldn't find any real estate in it to buy. The mention of real estate reminds us that Jack has just completed a deal by which Oliver L. Estes of 812 E. Windsor road traded 20 acres of orchard and alfalfa near Hemet for several hundred acres and a dozen or so business lots in six states, namely: Oklahoma, Nevada, Colorado, Texas, Minnesota and South Dakota. The latter property belonged to J. R. Thrall of 441 W. Maple.

PRESIDENT'S PLANS
[By Associated Press]

FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD

The co-ordinating body for the Federal Reserve banks is the Federal Reserve Board in Washington. This board is made up of seven members, five of whom are appointed by the president and devote their whole time to the work, and the secretary of the treasury and the controller of the currency. Through this board the Federal Reserve banks become a country-wide system.

The Federal Reserve Board is not an operating body. Except for its power to require one Federal Reserve bank to lend to another, its powers are almost entirely supervisory. It must approve the "discount rates" established by the directors of the various Federal Reserve banks before they are put into effect. It passes upon the salaries of their officers and employees. It defines the classes of loans which the law allows the Federal Reserve banks to make. But it does not pass upon the individual loans which that bank makes or say to it when, or how much, or how little it shall lend to a member bank. Nor can the board oblige a Federal Reserve bank to lend to a member bank or prevent it from doing so. The board itself cannot lend money, because it has none to lend.

The Federal Reserve banking system is one of the most vital and beneficial phases of American banking today.

BARONESS DE ROPP DRAWS CONTRASTS AT HI P.-T. A.

A talk by George Lockwood, explanatory of the reasons for criticism of the governor's budget with relation to schools, a wonderful talk on life in Russia as compared with life in the United States by Baroness De Ropp, and some excellent numbers by the school orchestra, conducted by Mrs. Dora Gibson, featured the meeting of the High School P.-T. A., Wednesday afternoon.

It seemed a fitting prelude when the orchestra played with great spirit, "Cossack Revelry" by Tchaikowsky, which was followed by "Moment Musical" (Schubert). Another number which greatly pleased the audience was the son, "Winter Lullaby," charmingly sung by Gwendolen Warner, who has a sweet voice and fine enunciation. Winifred Parker was her accompanist.

Mr. Lockwood said when the governor pledged himself before his election to reduce the budget fifteen millions and not to hamper the educational or humanitarian interests, there was no idea in the minds of the people that the cuts would be made in education, and when the budget was issued the superintendent of public instruction and educators all down the line were simply "floored."

Mrs. Wood, who was program chairman of the meeting, introduced Baroness Otilly De Ropp, speaker of the day who, after a residence of seven years in America, is competent to make an authoritative comparison of her native country with the United States, of which she and her husband hope soon to become naturalized citizens.

Her courage and initiative were revealed in the natural, unaffected account she gave of the experiences of herself and husband after leaving Russia in 1915, following the invasion of Lithuania by the Germans. At the Russian border they were informed they would be allowed to take with them only 500 rubles—$165. Of this sum they had $135 left on reaching New York, where they hoped with their knowledge of languages to secure immediate employment. That hope was not immediately realized, and she told with humor and underlying pathos of their resolve to live on 5 cents a day, which they accomplished, confining their diet to oatmeal unrelieved by any dressing. She told of renting a Massachusets farm on which they both worked very hard, she peddling milk. She said: "The more we saw of your country in both the east and the west, the more we loved America and we always wondered that you do not have a real appreciation of it; that you take these things so much for granted. You do not realize what you have in comparison with Europe. You love your country and you salute the flag, but in your daily life you do not realize your blessings."

"Mr. Hoover has said that last year 16,000,000 people in Russia starved in a country which produces more grain than the United States, and you Americans have fed more than 10,000,000 Russians who would have been dead but for your help. The government sold 2,000,000 bushels of grain and the Americans came in and fed the people, and yet they try to make Americans believe that their kind of government is better than yours."

At the brief business session, held by the association, the treasurer announced a cash balance of $40.89, the committee on sweaters and caps, of which Mrs. Hatch is chairman, was given authority to act; Mrs. Rowe reported receipts of the country store at the bazaar as $66.38, the report being received with applause, and Mr. Tucker of the Community Service invited all present to attend the sunrise service on Easter day on Tropico hill.

Presbyterian Church Brick Work Progresses

Mr. McDill, financial secretary of the Glendale Presbyterian church, reports that the workmen are just about completing the brick work on the Sunday school section of the new church at Harvard and Louise, that the roof boards are nearly all on and will soon be ready for the slate covering which will precede work on the interior. It is hoped that the Sunday school section will be ready for use in two or three months, and the auditorium by Thanksgiving. The placing of the stone trim is making the building daily more attractive and impressing the public with its beauty and substantial character.

Mrs. Elizabeth Straith-Miller was featured in the program given before chapter A H, of P. O. E. at the home of Mrs. Lillian Smits of 231 Milford street last Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Straith-Miller, a well-known Seattle musician, who has recently established a residence studio at 912 East Orange Grove avenue delighted the members of the chapter with a group of American songs. Her beautiful lyric soprano voice and unusual artistic discernment quite captivated her audience.

She has sung in New York, London and Paris, and toured the northwest as soloist with Charles Wakefield Cadman. Her singing has been enthusiastically received wherever heard and it is hoped that she will appear often in local circles.

Mary Louise Brown from the Pearl Keller school of dancing gave two artistic solo dances; the "Coquette" to MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose" and "Spring" to Mendelssohn's "Spring Song." The charm and grace with which these dances were executed gave much pleasure.

Marjorie Jean Bailey, a popular and talented local high school girl, delighted her hearers with a group of beautiful harp solos.

Two saxophone solos were given by Howard Smits, accompanied by Avis Young on the piano. The numbers by these young people were well received.

The musical program which was arranged by Mrs. Wayne Smith and Mrs. Lillian Smits followed a delicious luncheon served by Mesdames Mabry, Wattles, Pollock and J. Herbert Smith.

After the musical program Mrs. A. W. Beach, the newly elected president of the chapter, presided at the business meeting.

Special guests of the day were Mesdames Straith-Miller, A. L. Bancroft, C. L. Peckham, Seymour G. Smith, and O. W. Andresen.

Miss Loraine Feldt and Mrs. Sam Wier of St. Louis, were week-end guests of Mrs. W. E. Moore, of 517 West Alexander street. Mrs. Moore entertained her visitors on Saturday with a trip over the Ridge route and on Sunday a picnic party was enjoyed at Brookside park.

Truths in Epigram

A man's vanity tells him what is honor, a man's conscience what is justice.— Landor.

As for me all I know is that I know nothing.—Socrates.

Language is a city to the building of which every human being brought a stone.—Emerson.

From heaven descended the precept, "Know thyself."—Juvenal.

ISOLATION NOT FAVORED

There is in progress at Rome the second congress of the International Chambers of Commerce. It is an important occasion, and is so recognized by the Italian government. The fact that the largest delegation is from the United States shows with what favor the enterprise is regarded here. Formal welcome was extended by Marco Cassin, president of the Italian chamber of commerce, who among other things, said this:

"The economic future of the world depends upon the close co-operation of all countries; those who practice the policy of isolation will find that they alone are injured thereby."

That is nothing more nor less than the truth does not need to be argued. That the people of various nations are getting together to talk over their mutual interests, is a most encouraging fact. It is far more significant than the spectacle of diplomats seated about a table gravely deciding how to divide the spoils of war, or dividing anything else that strikes them as being divisible. That a peaceful delegation of Americans goes to Italy, not to arrange terms, not to discuss disarmament, not to set up a balance of power, but to attend to the business of the world, is a finer augury for friendship than to be observed in any formal parley at which the delegates dissemble their real purpose.

People of various states interested in one subject, for instance distribution of water, or conservation of power, meet to confer and to reach a conclusion agreeable to all. They do not have to quarrel. The subject of keeping the peace is not mentioned, because there is not the slightest reason for considering it. People of various nations ought to be at equal liberty. If the foolish rule of greed were to be banished, and war classed as outlawry, there would be a chance for the reign of common sense as exemplified in the congress at Rome.

People uphold isolation because they believe that international intimacy leads to war. Its effect, on the other hand, ought to be exactly the opposite. The proponents of isolation are enemies of human progress.

PARENTS ARE WARNED

Much has been said as to the steady increase of crime; less as to the part of it due to juvenile offenders. Officers who pay particular attention to the activities of wayward boys and girls are amazed at the immoralities of the youngsters. And with one accord they place the blame on parents. Many children have no home ties; they may have homes of a sort, but no ties. They do not recognize parental authority, or perhaps there is no effort to exercise such authority. At any rate they roam the streets at will, night or day. Girls not yet in their teens are permitted to stay out over night with "a girl friend." Often the mother does not take the trouble to ask the name or address of the friend. Later the erring daughter will be rescued from the vilest associations, found there under conditions not fitting to relate.

There are boy embezzlers, thieves, burglars, forgers. There are hardened criminals degraded enough to coach them in evil ways. When one of these boys is caught he manifests a callous effrontery almost beyond belief. In instances he may be scared, but the emotion of pride is far more common than that of fear. The army of adult criminals is being recruited right along from among the boys and girls who are entitled to the protection of a home, and the guidance of parents, and who fail to get either.

It is quite usual to ascribe the presence of criminals to the influence of war. These babes of iniquity have not been to war. It is useless to try to shift the responsibility. They are the victims of wanton neglect. They have been allowed to develop without counsel and without discipline. They have been left exposed to temptations. They have been thrown to the wolves.

HOW THE LAW LAGS

The former president of a fruit company is being tried for forgery. The allegation is that through his conduct one bank was swindled out of more than $300,000, and almost wrecked in consequence. This is the second trial. In the first the jury had disagreed. In the circumstances the second trial became necessary. All right so far.

Adverse criticism begins to be heard when the fact is taken into consideration that the disagreement was two years ago, and that in the interval the whole procedure has rested. It would not be fair that an innocent man should be kept all this time under the shadow of implied guilt. Neither would it be fair to allow a guilty man his freedom for so long. It might afford him opportunity to escape by disappearance. There also must be the chance of his escape through the absence of witnesses. Every criminal lawyer is aware that the longer the lapse of time between commission of a crime and the trial of the accused, the greater the likelihood of defeating justice. Hence by every trick and device known to his kind, he seeks postponement.

In this particular case the chief witness no longer is available. He is said to be in a sanitarium as the result of his experience when the bank of which he had been head was cleverly looted. Some similar incident, or similarly effective incident, may be expected when there is a two-year pause in dealing with a criminal charge.

A man can't get out of buying his wife a new hat by alluding to her hair as her crowning glory.

The way of the average woman exasperates the average man.

WHITE AS EVER..

Income tax returns show clearly that southern California has a right to be known as the white spot on the financial map. Throughout the country income tax collections gained seven million dollars over last year. Of this total gain, derived from sixty-four revenue districts, one-half was from the district centering at Los Angeles. There was also from northern and central California an increase of $2,359,375. This state seems to have been nearly the sole contributor to the aggregate increase. Payments also were more than usually prompt.

These figures place Los Angeles in respect of such growth as indicated by this enormous gain, at the head of the entire list of districts. Of course this does not mean the city alone, but takes in the thriving community on every hand, with several places of metropolitan status. Long Beach, Pasadena, Glendale, each one a flourishing city and each growing at a rate unprecedented, are of the number.

Perhaps it would be an unnecessary task to give the reasons for expansion. There are many, and they have been cited many times. It is the destiny of this section to be great. It is progressing not only with swiftness, but harmoniously, and on a scale of magnitude. The quoted figures are not a surprise to careful students of the local situation.

Leaving the Happy Valley

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

"Toy land, toy land, little girl and boy land, once you leave its border you can ne'er return again."

Do you remember when first you left them? Can you recall the first sharp, terrible heart ache that came with a budding sense of the reality of life?

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

I can; and I thought of it this morning when I took up a paper and read of a group of happy kiddies waiting in front of the house of their friend and playmate, a man past 70. He had built boats for them for years and was a kind of good fairy to the neighborhood juveniles.

But this special morning he did not come out and the laughing group began to wonder.

After a time a woman came from the house of the kiddies' friend and told them that their friend would never play with them again, never make boats that they could launch in the creek nearby, because the old man had gone over the long, long trail.

The children lingered for a time in knots before the humble cottage where their friend had lived, their eyes wide and frightened. It was their first knowledge of death. Without warning they had been expelled from the happy valley of childhood and thrust into the world of reality.

They did not understand, of course. How could they? Their friend had once been a builder of boats for New Bedford whalers. That was in the old sailing days. Then steam came and replaced the sail boats and the old man lost his calling.

He took to building boats for children and his admirers loved and trusted him. It was gay times for the juveniles while the old man made toy vessels, for they never knew that little by little the modest fortune accumulated in whaleboat building was slipping away.

By and by it was all gone; but the children never suspected that their friend was in distress; he just laughed and made boats.

And one evening he went home and turned on the gas; that was easier than going to the poor house. It was the landlady who told them their friend was dead. Poor little tykes; that news banished them from the happy valley. Never again will they be quite so care free, quite so happy.

Always in the backs of their little heads will be the shadow of something that may and can and does happen to people, something that closes the door on the innocence of childhood and drives babies out to look on the grim face of reality.

"Toy land, toy land, little girl and boy land,
Once you pass its borders you can ne'er return again."

And, oh, isn't it a pity, this being true, to thrust the tots out too soon? "Toy land, toy land"—keep them close as long as the fates will let you.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

AN "ENVIOUS" ELEVATION

(Find the error in this article)

C. Duran writes that "the following tongue twister won a $100 prize" in a large metropolitan paper: "Early, eager employes, eventually, earn envious elevation'." Mr. Duran says he thinks "the right word is enviable." He is right. Envious means having or cherishing envy—hardly possible of an elevation. Enviable means capable of exciting ardent desire of possession—quite characteristic of an elevation that many might desire.

Trouble Over the Word Proven

Tom E. Murtha doesn't know whether it is correct to use proven or not. Proven is his alternative. The question is quickly decided. Just do not employ the word proven at all. "Our products have proved their economy under varied conditions" is correct.

Hanged and hung seem also to have given him trouble, but again the solution of the problem is simple. Use hanged in connection with a discussion of an execution, and hung at other times; as, He was hanged last Wednesday; The flag was hung out last Wednesday.

Is a Department Human?

"Shall I use who in the following sentence, or which", asks William L. Greenfield: "I notified the Department of the Interior, who (which) later reported?" Which, by all means. Do not consider a department human. Treat it as an inanimate thing.

The Error

" 'Early, eager employes, eventually, earn envious elevation'."

Right: Early, eager employees eventually earn enviable elevation. (Note the dropping of commas, the spelling of employees, and of course the changing of the word envious to enviable.)

Vocabulary

Have you ever been accused of cupidity? If so, you have been charged with having an inordinate desire, wish, or greed for possession, especially for the possession of wealth; you have been charged with avarice or covetousness.

Queries

B. H. B. "hands" out a request with a vengeance. He asks whether the following sentence would be correct in a business letter: "As requested we hand you a list of the items you requested." Why all the requesting? And why say you are handing him the list when you are sending it to him by mail? Correct: We are sending you a list (enclosing a list) of the items you requested.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W. FOLEY

After all, the spirit has to come from within you.

It cannot be brought in from without.

The healing must be done from within.

It cannot be done from without.

Cheer has to come from within.

It cannot be brought from without.

* * *

The labor has to be done with your own hands.

It cannot be done for you.

The treasure is in yourself.

Was.

Is.

Will be.

* * *

It remains for you to make the discovery.

To do your own digging.

Others may suggest.

Some one may hold a light for you.

But you are the one who must dig out the treasure.

* * *

So grumbler, quiet yourself.
Cynic, cheer thyself.
Discontent, calm thyself.
Idler, busy thyself.
Sleeper, wake thyself.
Stumbler, steady thyself.
For the spirit cannot come from without.
It must come from within.

* * *

The will is after all yours.
The will to labor.
The will to cheer.
The will to know.
The will to struggle.
The will to achieve.

* * *

Birth was yours without will.
Death will be yours without will.
But life is yours to will.
And it will be much as you will it.
Useful, if you will it so.
Happy, if you will it so.
Busy, if you will it so.

* * *

But the spirit of all is in you.
The spirit to rise.
The spirit to walk straight.
The spirit to talk straight.
The spirit to find the way and follow it.

* * *

It is not to say that you cannot be aided.

It is not to say that there is not knowledge beyond you.

It is not to say that there is not wisdom to help you.

But it is yours to receive.

To awaken will.

To resolve.

* * *

So, doubter, have faith.
Wobbler, have purpose.
Workman, have industry.
Liar, learn truth.
Struggler, press on.
Fallen, rise up.
The spirit is in you.

* * *

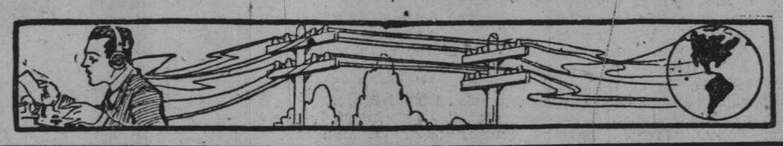

There is no wisdom for you unless you acquire it.

No cheer for you unless you accept it.

No glory for you unless you earn it.

No peace for you, unless you make it.

No reward for you unless you earn it.

Songs of the Poets

The Passion Flower—By Margaret Fuller

My love gave me a passion flower.
I nursed it well—so brief its hour!
My eyelids ache, my throat is dry:
He told me that it would not die.

My love and I are one, and yet
Full oft my cheeks with tears are wet—
So sweet the night is and the bower!
My love gave me a passion flower.

So sweet! Hold fast my hands. Can God
Make all this joy revert to sod,
And leave to me but this for dower—
My love gave me a passion flower.

TRUSTEES OF THE WORLD

By DR. FRANK CRANE

LLOYD GEORGE, former premier of Great Britain, is now a member of the house of commons. The other day he made a speech which was loudly applauded by his fellow members. Arthur Henderson, the labor leader in parliament, declared that Lloyd George had made the greatest speech of his career.

The substance of this speech can be boiled down into a few words—one of its paragraphs:

"Great Britain cannot reorganize the world alone. We must get the support of America."

In that pronouncement the British statesman expressed what is perhaps the most necessary thing for the human race to do at this present time.

It is for Great Britain and the United States, the two great English-speaking commonwealths, to get together and work hand in hand for the rehabilitation of the world.

In the first place, these two nations can do it. And they represent the only group which can. They have the money, they have the virility, they have the influence, and they alone.

If these two nations are combined no other powers in the world could stand against them.

There is no danger of their combining to rob or tyrannize other nations, because public opinion within them is wholly against such policy. No government in a program of aggression could remain in power a minute.

All that these two nations want is for other nations to behave themselves, quit fighting and go to work.

These are the two great commercial nations of the world, and commerce does not want war.

Whatever, therefore, makes for thorough co-operation between these two nations makes for the welfare of mankind.

Neither of them has the slightest desire to dominate the other.

There are crooked sticks in both countries — Britishers who hate Americans, and Americans who hate Britishers. But they are an exceedingly small, though vociferous, minority.

In any world compact of nations it is Great Britain and the United States that will be the backbone. If these two or either of them are lacking no world compact will be workable.

It certainly seems as though the wisdom of statesmen should devise some sort of arrangement by which these two great peoples could work together in harmony for that peace of the world which they both desire.

These two nations are prosperous and powerful and always destiny saddles responsibility upon the prosperous and powerful. There is no escape from the obligations of power. The weak and feeble can evade their duties, but the strong and great can never evade them.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

SEES A HOPEFUL TREND

[North Western Christian Advocate]

The Public Ledger of Philadelphia of recent date has a significant article from the pen of a special correspondent upon the changing attitude of the non-prohibition public toward the eighteenth amendment. After narrating at length a conversation among several business men of bibulous proclivities who were admitting their growing condemnation at their self-indulgence and law violation, the following paragraph closes the letter.

Our discussion reached a conclusion somewhat along these lines: Trafficking with bootleggers is gradually coming to be rewarded as not quite the thing. As liquor stocks carried at home are exhausted, a great many citizens will never break the law to replenish them. The supplying of cocktails or other drinks at banquets, etc., is already becoming an exception rather than the rule. The carrying of flasks, at first looked upon as "sporty," is not nearly so widely indulged in by decent people. Public sentiment toward professional bootleggers is changing and severe sentences are now widely approved. In short, the whole trend is distinctly toward less and less drinking among reputable citizens.

Incidentally, have you ever stopped to consider how far the closing of the saloons has helped to boom home building, automobile buying, savings banks deposits and the like in this country?

Now the foregoing carries great weight. One of the most humiliating features of the prohibition problem at this particular time is the attitude of supposedly reputable citizens who make bootlegging possible by personal patronage. These men stand well in the community and would indignantly resent any suggestion of unpatriotic act in continuing to indulge their appetite at the expense of the law of the land. So long as a considerable number in any community maintain this selfish attitude, serious difficulties in the enforcement of the law will continue. It is, therefore, a very hopeful story summed up by the Ledger's correspondent in the paragraph quoted above; for when those who are susceptible to shame square their acts with conscience, it will be easy enough to control the lower order of humans called "bootleggers."

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

A dispatch from Omaha dated March 18, stated that region to be in the grip of the worst storm seen there since 1888. Then the present visitation must be a thing of terror.

HENRY JAMES.

In 1888 Nebraska became a place of desolation and mourning. It was a time of tragedy and heroism. The merciless blizzard buried the land. Swirling snow driven by fierce winds made life outdoors nearly impossible, and to many it brought death.

It was in that storm that brave school teachers, staying in the storm-beleaguered buildings until driven out by cold, tied the children together by ropes, attached the rope to themselves, and sought to lead their charges to shelter. In instances they succeeded. In other cases, rescue parties, digging deep into the hidden roads, found the little coterie under the snow, the wee child among them wrapped in the frozen arms of the teacher, the others grouped as closely as possible, and the silence of death upon them all.

The people of the whole state felt the burden of sorrow. The memory of those times bring tears to the eyes. Probably nothing quite so tragic could happen now, since the region is more densely occupied and better organized than then.

It must seem singular to those who know only the suavity of clime as they experience it in southern California, even to realize that in parts of the country winter, or even spring, may be a season of suffering and terror.

No sooner had the reputation of Tutankhamen as a genuine antique been established than archeologists started in quest for something so ancient as to make the pharoah appear modern. They think they now are on the track of records left by Abraham. At least they believe they are to dig up relics of a civilization that flourished fifty centuries ago, and perhaps a hundred centuries.

There is particular desire to disclose a library containing a history of those times. The reading will be difficult of course.

The writer was in New York city when, in 1905, the body of Hiram Cronk, last soldier of the war, was brought to the metropolis, and lay in state. Cronk had reached the age of 105. Thousands of New Yorkers filed by the bier, some of them doubtless wondering what the war of 1812 was, and with what nation.

It seems a little singular that there should be forty-one widows of veterans of that war still clinging placidly to the pension roll. The business of marrying old veterans has been found remunerative in later times. The practice must have begun early in the history of this country.

American relief agents exploring the fastness of Russia came upon a tribe who believe that Americans live at the bottom of the world. The wisest of the lot could not account for the ability of an American to be on a physical plane with themselves. The conclusion was reached that he must have ascended a ladder.

It would not be well to laugh at such ignorance. Even in the United States there are persons who believe and teach that the earth is flat. And then there are the others who say of evolution "There ain't no such critter."

The papers tell that Sunday in Los Angeles one Filipino stabbed a fellow countryman, and a third of the lively little islanders went through the streets in morose humor, shooting at all and sundry, but hitting only two innocent bystanders.

A ship recently arrived at San Pedro with the report that its safe had been robbed at sea. The booty consisted of money and jewels. Crime is getting so common, and the criminal so bold, that nothing perpetrated by the underworldling really is very surprising. Yet to commit a robbery at sea and take the chances of getting down the gangplank with the loot, does require an interesting degree of nerve.

Those who go down to the sea in ships surely are taking chances. One of the grave chances is that of starting for one port and arriving at another. Not long ago a four-master left San Francisco for Gray's harbor, up in Washington. It did not meet with kindly winds. In fact they were very unkind unless the crew is able to appreciate the charm of southern California.

Instead of getting north, the four-master arrived at harbor in San Pedro, in rags and tatters, and having undergone every sort of buffet a ship may experience without being sent to the bottom.

WATCHING THE PARADE

BY JOHN DILGRIM

The finest argument against wabble-mindedness I ever heard was stated by Secretary of State Hughes the other day. You know what wabble-mindedness is. It is the faculty that is more or less inherent in all of us to take some other fellow's advice about an affair that is strictly our own.

"I found this in a letter written by President Lincoln to Carl Schurz," said he.

I've forgotten the wording of the letter. But Schurz had written to Mr. Lincoln, giving his opinion that Lincoln was conducting the war altogether wrong and that defeat was certain to be his portion. In effect Mr. Lincoln said—and the letter is worth looking up and pinning on the wall—that if he were to take Schurz's opinion rather than his own it must follow that he must take some other fellow's opinion in preference to Schurz's.

"There are certainly others who think you are making as great a failure of your job as you think I am making of mine," he wrote. It must be understood this quotation is not verbatim. Hence the logical outcome was that he would have nobody's opinion at all in the end—not even his own—for every man must have a critic who believes him to be wrong.

Mr. Hughes did not read this letter for its bearing on any affair of the moment, but in support of his stated belief that, being sure one is right, the one sensible thing for any one to do was to go straight ahead. He found critics stimulating, he said—"fructifying" is the word he used. "Not in the way they think they are, but because they are a great stimulus to determination."

For all that, when I undertook to buy me a light overcoat for spring wear, having precisely the coat I desired in mind, I permitted the clerk to talk me into purchasing a sort of pea-green thing that might look well in a mirror but occasions ribald mirth among my friends when I take it on the street. Yet—having accepted the clerk's opinion as my opinion—I can do no less than wear it. Meanwhile hating it.

I would have liked my first choice, even if no one else did.

GLENOAKS ACRES WELCOMES ALL GLENDALIANS

Subdividers Entertain the Home Folks With Barbecue in Wonder Tract

By ALBERT MARPLE

Gentle breezes, coming over hill and dale from the Pacific, and tempered by the warmth of an early spring sun, brushed the cheeks and cheered the very souls of two hundred realtors and others who inspected Glenoaks and partook of the delicious barbecued viands that were provided by the owners and subdividers of that wonderful tract, formerly known as Scholl canyon, Wednesday afternoon.

The orchards of Glenoaks are now in bloom. As the motorist guides the nose of the trusted motor up Sycamore canyon, and then to the right up the old Scholl canyon road, which will very soon give way to a strictly modern 70-foot boulevard, his heart is thrilled and his soul is rested at the sight of the acres and acres of bloom, swaying as an ocean of pink and white in the refreshing breezes. To the right and to the left the blossoms nod their pretty heads in a cordial welcome. To the front and to the rear each tiny petal of each fragrant bloom is calling in a message that speaks far louder than words possibly could:

"Welcome to Glenoaks! Behold the beautiful spring in the most wonderful valley in the world. Open your hearts and drink in the unspeakable charms of God's most favored handiwork."

Up the canyon the motor purrs, finally entering the groves that are now being dispensed by the owners of this most wonderful of canyons. The motorist draws up at the side of the road in the midst of an ocean of bloom.

If you are discouraged, a jaunt up into this wonderful tract will bring back the old-time confidence; if you are sorrowing, the assurance that there is some great Being who cares will gently encircle your heart if you will but delve into the hidden wonders of this canyon; if you are tired and worn, an hour among these wonderful hills, God's greatest gift to man, will bring back the peace and tranquility for which you have been seeking; if you are lonely, there awaits for you at Glenoaks a feeling of comradeship and help—for every tiny twig, every flower that grows upon tree and hillside, every bird that flits from tree to tree calls to you to be of good cheer—that the skies that are just ahead are brighter and the path up which you must go has been smoothed by One who cares.

That is Glenoaks—the dream-tract that is extending its arms to the home-lovers of Southern California; that embodies some of the most wonderful home locations that man has ever seen.

From the stopping point amid the flowers the crowd of beauty lovers yesterday, guided by Mr. Powers, one of the owners of the tract, wended its way through the orchard, beneath the wonderful oaks of "lovers' lane" and up a slight encline to Inspiration Point, from which an unsurpassed birdseye view of the entire Glenoaks tract is secured.

After drinking in the beauties of the scene for many moments the crowd descended to the floor of the valley and wended its way through the orchard to the clumps of wonderful oaks that the owners of Glenoaks have given to the city as a municipal park.

In this park a wonderful barbecue dinner, prepared by skillful chefs, was served.

"The Frank Meline company, and the owners of Glenoaks welcome you," said Mr. Tryon, one of the owners of the tract. "They do more than that—they appreciate your presence here today. As individuals and as members of various organizations of Glendale we offer our hand of welcome and fellowship to you, for we have come to Glendale to work with you in making this city one of the most wonderful places in the world.

"This company has deeded to the city a strip of ground 70 feet in width and three miles long, this to be used as a highway entirely through the tract. This road will be a new connecting link between Glendale and Flintridge, which means Pasadena. Our engineers have been at work for the past six months and their labors, so far as this tract is concerned, are almost over. This road will be a great help to all of us. It will be one of the most beautiful highways in California, and its grades will not run over 5 percent.

"The park in which you now stand we are giving to the city. Out on the open space we are planning to build four tennis courts. The Frank Meline company will erect upon this property a clubhouse to cost $7,500, which also will be given to Glendale. If Glendale does not like this site we will gladly change this piece for any other site in the entire tract. It is our aim to give to Glendale the best there is in this subdivision for park purposes. We selected this site because we think it is the best.

"We have enjoyed being in Glendale. You are a bunch of thoroughbreds. You have met us with open arms. In place of being antagonistic to us you have shown that you are our friends. We will strive to be worthy of your friendship and confidence."

Mayor Spencer Robinson, who served as chairman of the occasion, did everything but sing his welcome to these newly-arrived realty men and boosters and his thanks for the wonderful gift they have made to the city.

City Manager Reeves spoke of the wonderful things the Glenoaks company plans for its tract and he welcomed such public spirited men to this city. He also asked for the support of those present for the airport bond issue which will be placed before the voters on April 10.

J. C. Sherer, who was introduced as "the oldest resident of Glendale," gave a brief history of this city and of Scholl canyon, closing by saying that he thought the gift of the park to the city was very unusual and that the city appreciated deeply the wonderful donation.

A. T. Cowan, owner of the Glendale News, gave a brief history of his life in Glendale, stating that he has been here for the past ten years. He also commented on the generosity of the Glenoaks company.

T. W. Hall, head salesman for the Frank Meline company, Mr. Johnson, president of the Realty board of Eagle Rock, Dan Stone, formerly of Trinidad, Colo., and member of the Page-Stone company of realtors, and Dr. Jessie A. Russell, also took part on the program.

The affair was a huge success, the visitors were delighted with Glenoaks, and the owners of that wonderful tract were more than pleased with their reception at the hands of the Glendale people.

CHILDREN'S HOUR AT THE SOUTHWEST MUSEUM

Next Saturday morning, March 24, at 11 o'clock, the usual attractive program will be given by the children's department for the "Children's Hour" at the Southwest Museum, Los Angeles. Mrs. Florence Don Carlos, librarian of Arroyo Seco Library, will be the story teller. Mrs. Don Carlos has chosen for her subjects the condensed story of "Robin Hood," "Arkansaw Bear," and a fairy tale for the younger children.

Immediately preceding the talk, Walter Simonds, boy soprano, ten years of age, will sing a group of songs and will be accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Alva Simonds.

An educational film will conclude the program. The children of the public are cordially invited.

The month of March represents a museum month. Dr. John A. Comstock will speak on "The Southwest Museum, Its Aims and Ideals," illustrating his subject with colored lantern slides, on March 25 at 3 o'clock.

Preceding the lecture Mrs. Cecile Norton Winchester, soprano, will sing "One Fine Day," from Madam Butterfly; "I Found Him on the Mesa" (Cadman); "Call to London" (Willeby); "Open Secret" (Huntington Woodman). Mrs. Winchester will be accompanied by Mrs. Doris Chillcotte.

The public is cordially invited to take advantage of an interesting afternoon.

An exhibition of fine old paintings from the Blanche Dougan collection is now on at the museum.

Baby Talk Condemned by Kindergarten Expert

CHICAGO, March 22.—Baby talk, defined as "an expression of self-vibrating with parenthood," is condemned as a dangerous and ludicrous practice by Miss Marion Lamphier, Ph.B., instructor in essentials of speaking at the National Kindergarten and Elementary college.

Exhorting young fathers and mothers to 'ware of "itta darling'" and "wittle wambkins" and kindred terms of parental endearment, Miss Lamphier points out that only six out of every ten children escape detrimental impressions "from the absurd language of their parents' affections."

Says Miss Lamphier:

"There is a serious side to baby talk which is forcefully presented to the students at the National Kindergarten and Elementary college. During the first six years of the average child's life he passes from the isolated syllable stage to the full sentence stage of language development. From there on the process is an intricate elaboration of all the twists and idiosyncracies of English expression.

"Woe to the child who has been a bit weak in language development and who has had in his ears incorrect and auditory imagery from early babyhood to the primary grade periods. There is constant danger that this child may be either weak in his language development or so precocious in some other development that the language process, not weak in itself, is simply retarded before the stronger growth, mentally or physically. In either case the practice of baby talk is a distinct danger. Furthermore, baby talk is frequently groundwork for a development in stammering, a handicap which may continue thruoghout life."

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy soft and beautiful.—Adv.

Fixed Date for Easter Advocated in England

LONDON, March 22.—An effort is being made by a number of Englishmen led by Lord Desborough, to obtain general agreement on the question of a fixed date for Easter.

Lord Desborough recently stated that a motion to this effect will be offered at the next meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce on the ground that the variance of Easter is inconvenient not only to business people, but also to the legal profession and to schools and universities. He will leave next month for Rome to ask the Pope to consider the matter.

It is understood that the heads of the Church of England have already been approached on the subject, but answered that they had not the power to change the present system.

It has been suggested that the second Sunday in April should be fixed as the immovable date.

The dear old lady was being shown over a large liner. They were proceeding along the upper deck.

"What's that down there?" she asked her guide.

"That's the steerage, madam," he replied.

"Really!" she exclaimed. "To think that it takes all those people to make the boat go straight."

FEW THREE TIME WINNNERS IN OLYMPICS

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, March 22 (United Press).—Double winners have been many in Olympic game competition, triple winners have been occasional, but the feat of A. C. Kraenzlein, the American star, who won four events at Paris in 1900 never has been duplicated.

From the present outlook it will not be duplicated next year in Paris.

Kraenzlein won the sixty meters dash, the 110-meters hurdles, the 200-meters hurdles and the broad jump.

From a numerical point of view, perhaps his is the outstanding accomplishment of an athlete in competition with the world. Jim Thorpe made the greatest of all records in Stockholm, but his marks were never put on the books, because he played a game of baseball once.

Equally meritorious and perhaps even more was the record made by Ray Ewry, the American jumper, who dominated the standing jumping events in four Olympic meets.

Ewry won the high jump, the broad jump and the triple jump in 1900 in Paris and 1904 in St. Louis. He won the broad jump and the high jump also at Athens in 1906 and in London in 1908.

* * *

Hannes Kolehmainen, the veteran "Flying Finn," was a triple winner in 1912 when he won the cross country race and the 5,000 and 10,000 meter runs.

Other Americans who achieved a triple triumph were Hahn, who won the 60, 100 and 200 meters dashes in 1904, and Hillman, winner of the 400 meters run and the 200 and 400 meters hurdles.

* * *

Eddie Collins was the worst ball player, Monte Cross, former shortstop of the Athletics, ever saw, but Eddie was playing short when Cross saw him and he had found his place at second.

"Connie Mack introduced me to Collins," Cross said recently, "and he asked me to take him out and see what he could do. I looked him over and told him that he might have been great in college, but he would never do in fast company. He could hit and he was fast with his hands. He was much faster with his head and it was his intelligent playing that commanded our attention. Connie decided to shift him over to second base. He stopped fighting the ball and—you know the rest."

Collins at that time was known officially as "young Sullivan."
